Hyssop

Hyssop is often diffused at the beginning of energy work or emotional healing sessions. Protects the auric field and strengthens personal boundaries. In an energy work situation, hyssop puts the client in charge and in control of the direction and the depth to which the work will go. In many traumas and nearly all cases of abuse, the situation was out of the person's control. Being able to control the pace and being able to choose the direction of the work is absolutely essential to healing. Not usually used as a single. Wonderful in a blend.
