

Meridian Blessed Water Kit

Meridians are the pathways of communication between the various parts of the human body/mind/soul complex. These meridians channel an invisible nutritive energy known to the Chinese as ch'i. The ch'i energy enters the body through specific points and flows to deeper organ structures. Meridians bring life-giving nourishment with a gentle subtle energetic nature. A strong and balanced flow of energy through the body's meridians is important to optimal health. Blocked meridians create imbalanced energy flow to organs, which contributes to disease states within the body. There are emotional and mental characteristics associated with each pair of meridians.

Central Vessel

Central Vessel Balance: Firmness, balance between logic and emotion, considerate of - without being unduly influenced by - other peoples energies or opinions -or- An unrealistic sense of shame, guilt, shyness, and discomfort around people.
